ASYLUM CASES

Dismissed on Demurrer and Officials Are Exonerated.

Other Court Matters of More or Less Interest Passed Upon.

All of the cases known as the "asylum cases" came up in circuit court Saturday on a general demurrer and were dismissed. The case against J. C. Buckner was dismissed permanently and the others with leave to resubmit to the next grand jury. The cases in detail were as follows:

Secretary J. C. Buckner, of the coal firm of Buckner & West, charged with having a contract to furnish coal to the asylum.

Treasurer L. H. Davis, with having a contract to do the stone work on the new additions to the asylum.

Judge C. H. Bush, commissioner, with accepting law fees in cases in which he represented the asylum.

M. H. Carroll, commissioner, with selling farm products to the asylum.

Frank M. Quarles, president of the board, with selling hay and corn to the asylum.

Mario Johnson, commissioner, of the cattle dealing firm of Ford & Johnson, with selling beef cattle to the asylum.

John B. Clifton, commissioner, filling the position of farm superintendent at the asylum.

All of these officials were indicted for malfeasance in office. Dr. Board, superintendent, originally included in one of the joint indictments, was relieved of the charge against him, soon after the indictments were returned.

These indictments were all returned upon testimony given before the grand jury by Dr. W. A. Lackey.

The indictment returned against Dr. Lackey for assaulting a patient named Spegal Bourdieu, has not been disposed of.

Will Payne, col., charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, came up in court Friday on demurrer. The demurrer was sustained and the case dismissed. Payne, however, was held to await the action of the next grand jury. Bail was fixed at $100, but bond had not been furnished up to yesterday day.

The jury in the case of Polly Wallace and Georgia Jackson, both colored, under indictment for house breaking, returned a verdict of guilty. Polly was given two years in the penitentiary and Georgia one year. They were charged with robbing the dwelling of Tad Courtney, who lives about five miles from the city, of clothing, bedding, etc., several months ago. Polly Wallace is about 70 years old. A motion to set aside the verdict has been filed by the attorney for the woman.

Charles Tucker, colored, was convicted of grand larceny and his punishment fixed at 2½ years in the penitentiary. Tucker was charged with robbing F. O. Smith son of a sum of money. William Guyon, col., who was charged with the same offense, was acquitted.

The case of Robert Lewis, col., charged with murder, was continued until the spring term. Bond was fixed at $500. Lewis furnished bail and was released.

The trial of Sam Wallace, col., indicted for housebreaking, resulted in a hung jury.

BROTHER SHOOTS BROTHER.

Boys Play With Gun and Weapon Is Discharged.

While two little sons of Abner Carter, col., were playing with an old gun Sunday the weapon was accidentally discharged and the load took effect in the neck of one of the boys causing a wound that may prove fatal.

Carter lives on the Madisonville road, about three miles from the city. He and his wife were at church when the accident happened.

FARMERS TO SIGN

The Tobacco Agreement at the Polis Next Tuesday.

Plan By Which Every Farmer Who Votes Can Be Invited To Sign.

Col. E. D. Jones, chairman of the county organization of the Farmers Dark Tobacco District Association, has hit upon a novel and well-planned scheme to organize the farmers in the fight against the tobacco trust, that robbed them of half the value of the crop of 1903. The plan is set forth in the following:

Notice to Farmers.

All farmers are requested and urged to sign the tobacco agreement paper, which will be at every voting place next Tuesday. Vote and then don't forget to sign the antitrust agreement. A man will be at every poll with a paper for signatures.

E. D. JONES, Chairman.

This plan is an excellent one. Many have already signed and even man who has a crop to sell will thus be invited to unite with his neighbors in an agreement not to give his crop away this year. Vote and then sign, or sign and vote, just as you prefer.

Have You Registered?

To-morrow is your last chance provided you were sick or away in October 4. Otherwise you are at it this year.

Smallpox Patient.

A colored woman living in the Herley neighborhood, who developed a case of smallpox a day or so ago, was brought to the pest house yesterday.

Ophthalmoscope and Retinose - Combined.

An up-to-date instrument for the diagnosis of the pathological condition of the interior of the eye without the use of a dark room or ointment to dilate the pupil. By its use all errors of refraction are detected and measured to an absolute certainty, without asking the patient any questions, thereby leaving the operator independent of the intelligence of the patient. (Great for children.) It is the latest and most complete instrument ever invented. By its use the retina (veins and arteries), is seen as clearly as the patient's face. This is a costly instrument, but as I have been always deeply interested, and made a specialty of examining and fitting glasses to the eye, I have kept up to date with the latest and best methods and instruments and feel that the best is none too good for my patrons. They may rest assured that they will get the latest and best service obtainable anywhere—derived from long years of practical experience with up-to-date appliances and for the least money.

Respectfully,

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Man the 10th whose house comes
A day of seeming life and joy,
Again as down is down wide
The sun is setting, the long day
There's a busting in the where
The little dinner pots have landed
From the table with their golden handles.

The family gathered round the table
With the knickknacks rattling
Down the narrow stairs the wife
Tries to get the children to bed
There's a busting in the where
The little dinner pots have landed
From the table with their golden handles.

"Did you go?" asked a voice.
"That was the impression I intended to convey. But are you sure?"

"Quite, quite sure. The line of the heart says so."

"Heart lines, old chap?" said Jim, nudging me.

"What did you say?" asked the voice.

"Nothing," I answered. "What you heard was a hitherto honored and respected friend being kicked. But I say, tell me. When shall I be engaged?"

"Before the end of the week."

"Hi! Jim, the day now?"

"The thirteenth," said Jim.

I shot a glance of surprise and loathing at him.

"Sorry, old man," he said, hurriedly. "It's Saturday."

"Why—good Lord!—then I shall get engaged to-night?"

"Why not?" asked Jim.

"Why not? You idiot! She's not even in the house. She's in London."

"Who is it?"

"Who?—why—oh, nothing. You see what I mean. There's nobody in the house that—"

"It's no good," said James, with a grin.

"You've given yourself away."

I turned back to the curtain.

"Are you still there?" I asked.

"Are you there, are you there, are you there, are you—?"

"I've finished, thank you," came the voice.

"But are you quite sure about being engaged by the end of the week?"

"Quite, quite sure," said the voice, a little shakily.

"James and I want you."

"Who is she?" I asked. "I didn't recognize the voice."

"O, she'd take good care about that!"

"Well, anyhow, it's impossible."

We entered the refreshment tent and drank things. Jim tried to be facetious about my rapidly approaching engagement. He even misquoted poetry to me. Things about love and so on.

"Did you make that up yourself?" I said, wearily. "It's very bad."

"Why, it's Shakespeare, man," he said, indignantly.

"O, thought it was you."

"I don't mind having it," he said, and ordered a third drink. "Kindly observe the new Swan of Avon."

"Are swans such great drinkers? Then? I didn't know."

"You're in a nasty, horrid temper, and I shall leave you," said Jim.

"No; I want you in my room forever told. There's a palmoist here."

"Of course."

"Have you ever thought," said James, reflectively, "what a tired time the right hand men of a butcher must have?"

"Look here," I said, "did you come to talk got like that to me?"

"No; I want you in my room forever told. There's a palmoist here."

"But I haven't a fortune."

"You don't want one. Half a grown's enough."

I went with blue number protest. It was a very dark tent into which we plunged, and I could see nothing better.

"Where is she?" I asked, impudently.

"The other side of the curtain," said James; "but you mustn't go in. You put your hand through there, and she's on the other side. Of course, if she saw you it would spoil everything."

"Who is it?"

"Never mind."

I put my hand through. Some one took it, and it seemed as though she were going over the lines of my palm with a pencil.

"Don't do that—please," I said.

"It tickles."

There was a light laugh from behind the curtain.

"You are very ticklish," said a voice.

"That isn't palmistry," I remonstrated.

"You are also quick-tempered, slow-minded, thin-skinned!"

"Fat-headed, go on!" I said, bitterly. "Just you wait till I see you."

"I'm awfully sorry," said the voice. "I don't think I have the right hand."

"Of course you haven't. It's the left."

"Yes, that's right. Oh, I see! I was looking at it upside down. You are modest, clever, athletic and of an artistic temperament."

James laughed unkindly.

"Did you laugh?" asked a voice.

"Certainly not!" I replied. "I wouldn't think of such a thing. But you're only saying things I know already. Won't you tell me my future?"

"You will be married within a year!"

I gasped.

"Did you gossip?" asked a voice. "That was the impression I intended to convey. But are you sure?"

"Quite, quite sure. The line of the heart says so."

"Heart lines, old chap?" said Jim, nudging me.

"What did you say?" asked the voice.

"Something in the words struck me." She looked up at me with a smile. Then I began to understand.

"'Katz!' I cried.

"Isn't it a beautiful day?" said Katz.—Black and White.

HABITS OF THE JAGUAR.

Interesting Chapter on the Most Stealthy and Ferocious of Felines.

The traits of the jaguar are many, but they nearly all lead to a river, for water appears to be more needful to the tiger than to my other member of the cat family. And this is not that he actually drinks more, so far as I can learn, says a writer in Outing, but rather because the waterways he finds an easy and abundant food in the river bed, in the small deer that come down to drink and in the fish that swim plentifully in all these streams.

In the Rio de la Plata, just off Huayos Ayres, is an island where at one time a number of jaguars were found and thrived practically on the fish they caught, for there was nothing else on the island, and none ever heard of their visiting the mainland, because of its settlement and not on account of the distance to shore, for the tiger is a strong, bold swimmer and mindless river of South America, not the widest, if he wishes to reach the opposite bank. He is a patient, unerring fisherman, watching for long periods from some vantage point, which may be either a fallen tree trunk extending into the stream or at the bank's edge, until a victim appears—when with a lightning blow he hauls the fish out to the bank or clutches it as he swims past.

While the swampy jungle and the water courses are his habitat, yet the jaguar will make incursions upon dry ground if cattle or horses or poultry offer, and river food happens to be scarce or for the time being more difficult to secure. I have several trusty worthies accounts of cattle and colts killed by the jaguar, though his ravages are not so frequent as once they were owing to his further inland habitat. His method of killing animals of this size is literally to stalk them up wind, that no smell may reach the victim, and then to spring on their back, fastening teeth and claws in the neck; with smaller animals the jaguar springs for the neck at once, and appears to prefer the hind quarters to the stomach, which is left for the vultures that are omnipresent in the open country.

Tigre is a much noisier animal than any other of the feline family, particularly at night, and roars the jungle dindest of other beasts in his manifest superiority. And he is without doubt absolute king of the South African forest; there is literally none to dispute his domain, none even worthy to do him homage, for the puma, which is fairly plentiful, has as little courage of his convictions in South as in North America.

He Knew His Business.

A lady going through a hospital during the last war saw a couple of soldiers sawing and hammering and said: "What are you doing?" "Making a coffin; that's all." "A coffin, indeed, and who is it for?" "That fellow over there," pointing to a cot. The lady looked and saw that the man was alive and watching what was going on. "Why," she said, in a low voice, "that man is not dead, and perhaps he won't die." "Oh, yes," insisted one of the men, "the doctor told us to make the coffin and I guess he knew'd what he giv' him."

Great Country for Wheat.

The delta of the Tigris and the Euphrates, now partially a desert and partially a swamp, contains over 5,000,000 acres of land. Perhaps no region of all the regions of the earth is more favored by nature for the production of cereals. It is claimed that wheat in its wild, uncultivated state has its home in the semiarid regions, and that from there it has been transported to every quarter of the globe.

LET'S BEGIN NEXT WEEK.

With only one more week until election, it is time for Democrats to shake off their apathy, and hearten themselves to get out the full Democratic vote. Of course Kentucky is a certain State for Parker, but the majority should be rolled up to such proportions that we will hear no more claims that Kentucky is doubtful under any circumstances. Here in Christian county, there are nearly 4,000 Democrats and there are many reasons why all of them who are able to go to the polls should do so next Tuesday. We want a show of strength for the local fight to come up next year. The Republican majority used to be as high as 1300 in Christian county. Last year it was 1019, with many Democrats dissatisfied. This time there are no dissatisfied Democrats. Every man who ever voted a Democratic ticket will probably vote for Parker. The Republicans have lost at least 200 negro voters this year, who have moved to other States. The Democrats are stronger and the Republicans weaker than they have been in this county for years. On a clean-cut, party show-down, we do not believe the Republicans have more than 500 majority in Christian county. Every town in the county shows a registered Democratic majority except Crofton. If Negroes will make even half an effort, they can cut down the Republican majority this year to a few hundred and make the victory of next year an easy one. The Republicans may as well understand now, as any other time that the Democrats propose to have a house-cleaning on Court-house hill next year. Get ready, Democrats, to show them next Tuesday that Democrats are once more united and are ready to begin right now a battle for supremacy that will not cease until Christian county is no longer a Republican county.

The Republicans, as usual, are claiming the whole earth, just as they did in the Presidential elections of 1884 and 1892. The time is ripe for them to be mistaken again.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed the ear becomes closed and cannot receive sound, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Bad Blood

is responsible for most of the diseases and ailments of the human system. It seriously affects every organ and function, causes catarrh, dyspepsia, rheumatism, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla which purifies and enriches the blood as nothing else can.

For testimonials of remarkable cures send for Book on the Blood, No. 3, C. L. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

The North Sea incident is now undergoing investigation by a neutral tribunal. The disposition to ridicule the Russian Admiral's explanation because Japanese torpedo boats were discovered among them, is unjust. Suppose investigation discloses the fact that torpedoes had been used at Hull? It is a well known fact that Japan will try to destroy the fleet before it reaches the scene of war. This is known to the Russian Admiral, but it cannot be blamed for exercising "external vigilance," even though it may lead him into mistakes. The Baltic fleet is composed of thirty seven ships. Six are battleships, two protected cruisers, two unprotected cruisers first class; one second class and three third class; twelve are destroyers and the rest auxiliary cruisers, transports, repair ships and colliers. It is one of the largest fleets that ever went to sea. It will take 110,000 tons of coal to steam it to Port Arthur. The money value of the fleet is $60,000,000. The ships must coal on the African coast, and again after passing through the Red Sea. Then they can go to Sumatra and take on enough to carry them to the Philipines. From there on it will be a matter of fighting a superior fleet. Japan has about 60 war vessels that will be available by the time the fleet reaches the Pacific ocean. The remnant of the Vladivostok squadron is now frozen up for the winter in the Siberian harbor and the Port Arthur squadron is penned up and helpless. Japan's friendly informers everywhere and Admiral Rojestvensky has cause to be watchful and suspicious. He will likely find many torpedo boats in his pathway, even before he reaches the battleships of the enemy. Despite his vigilance, the chances are that he will never reach the Yellow sea.

Miss Pauline Astor, daughter of Wardour Astor, the millionaire who founded the United States, small for him and moved to London, was married Saturday to Capt. Spender Clay. Senator Fairbanks delivered one of his celebrated cold storage speeches in Louisville Saturday afternoon. He was introduced by Col. W. O. Several candidates meetings were held in the State Saturday and the Democratic party seems well prepared for the contest next Tuesday. There is no excitement, but victory is not lacking and a heavy vote may be looked for in Kentucky. Let the Second District give Parker and Davis an old fashioned majority of 5,000 or 6,000.

Guthrie now has two weekly papers. The Interstate-News is published on Saturday by L. W. Gaines and the old Courier has been revived by H. A. Garmon and Vernon D. Lake and is issued on Thursday. It will be a foolish test of endurance, as there is barely room for one paper in Guthrie.

Dr. M. M. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with my bladder and kidneys for the last 20 years having doctor'd with many different physicians in that time, with no results. I was told to try a bottle of Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure, which I did and which is the only medicine that ever gave me relief. I am 71 years old and am in the best of health today. I will heartily recommend Dr. Fenner's Remedy to any one suffering from their bladder or kidneys. Besides it is a mean dose but pleasant to take.

On Question of Providing a Sewerage
System for the City of Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the City of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, on the first regular election day, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1904, at the regular hours for holding elections, as provided by law, for the purpose of taking the sense of the qualified electors of said city upon the proposition whether the said City of Hopkinsville shall incur an indebtedness of fifty thousand dollars, ($50,000) for the purpose of constructing a system of sewers for said city, which shall be submitted to the said electors at the general election as follows: "ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF THE CITY OF HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, INCURRING INDEBTEDNESS OF FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS, ($50,000) FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SEWERAGE SYSTEM WITHIN AND BY SAID CITY?" The amount of money necessary to be raised annually by municipal taxation to meet yearly interest charges arising by reason of the incurring of said indebtedness, and to create a sinking fund required by law to liquidate said indebtedness will be $4,500. And if upon a canvass of the votes cast at such election it shall appear that two-thirds (2/3) of the qualified electors of the City of Hopkinsville, voting on said question, shall have voted in favor of incurring such an indebtedness, it shall be the duty of the Board of Council of said city to pass an ordinance providing for the mode of creating such an indebtedness, and of paying the same by the levy and collection of an annual tax upon real and personal property, subject to taxation within the City of Hopkinsville, sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof within a period of not more than twenty years from the time of contracting same.

The polls will be opened and votes received at Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 1; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 2; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 3; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 4; and Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 5, said places being respectively the regular voting places in the five city precincts.

The election will be held pursuant to an ordinance of the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, made and adopted at its meeting held on the 26th day of September, 1904, and which ordinance is in words and figures as follows:

"ORDINANCE."

Whereas, Many of our citizens have expressed a strong and urgent desire that the City of Hopkinsville should construct and maintain a sewerage system within said city, for the reason that the best interest of the city and its residents demand that such sewerage system be without delay constructed and maintained; that same will be conducive to cleanliness and good sanitation, a preventive of disease and designed for the general promotion of health, as it will also greatly add to the domestic comfort and convenience of the people, and many important municipal advantages gained; and whereas this Board has had under consideration the question as to the construction and maintenance of such sewer for the City of Hopkinsville, and think it proper that the voters of the city should have opportunity to express their views upon this most important municipal question.

It is ordained by the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, in the State of Kentucky:

First.—That the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, deem it necessary to incur an indebtedness of Fifty Thousand Dollars, ($50,000.00) for the purpose of constructing a system of sewers for the City of Hopkinsville, and the payment of which indebtedness cannot be met without exceeding the in-

The amount of money necessary to be raised annually by municipal taxation to meet yearly interest charges arising by reason of the incurring of said indebtedness, and to create a sinking fund required by law to liquidate said indebtedness will be $4,500.00.

That such notice shall specify the amount of the indebtedness proposed to be incurred, the purpose or purposes of same, and the amount of money necessary to be raised annually by taxation for an interest and sinking fund. Such notice shall further provide that it upon the canvass of the votes cast at such election it shall appear that two-thirds (2/3) of the qualified electors of the city, voting on said question, shall have voted in favor of incurring such an indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof within a period of not more than twenty years from the time of contracting same.

AS TO SMALLPOX.State Board of Health Unduly Excited About Christian.

The Establishment of a Pest House Was About All That Was Needed.

The somewhat careless and in different way in which the eruptive disease prevalent in Christian county for some months has been treated, has caused the State Board of Health to take the matter in hand. Some of the local doctors have contended all along that the disease was not smallpox, while Dr. J. B. Jackson, the county health officer, to the safe side has classed some of the cases as smallpox in a very mild form, and has attempted to quarantine the houses in which it existed. This has been very hard to do, since many negroes with the disease were not made sick enough to go to bed and roamed about the country avoiding attention as much as possible. With possibly one exception there have been no deaths from the disease. The exception noted was a negro woman at Gracey, who had the disease in connection with other ailments. It finally was brought to the attention of Secretary J. N. McCormack of Bowling Green, by parties who wrote to him complaining that negroes infected with smallpox were sick on their premises and that the county authorities wanted to leave them where they were and establish a yellow flag quarantine. Dr. McCormack on his own responsibility ordered the county to provide a pest house and put all persons with smallpox in the pest house. The State Board of Health held a meeting Saturday in Louisville. From the notice of meeting in the Courier Journal the following is taken:

"Despite the report from the members of the county board of health of Christian county that in their opinion the smallpox situation was well under control, the State Board of Health, which met at the Galt House yesterday afternoon, ordered Dr. J. B. Jackson, of Hopkinsville, who is chairman of the board of health in Christian county, to hold weekly meetings of his board until the State Board is satisfied that all danger is passed. Christian county has been infected with the disease for the past six months, and it has spread to neighboring counties. While the situation is not one to give cause for undue alarm, the State Board feels that the disease should be thoroughly stamped out before winter sets in."

The number of cases reported is not large, but they come from widely separated communities in the county, showing that the disease has been general. The county has a large colored population, and it is known that many of the cases have been hid from the officials, and never reported. This has made it difficult to stop its progress.

Dr. McCormack, Bowling Green, president of the State Board, said last night that the board would insist upon vaccination, and isolation of smallpox patients. "We do not wish to be compelled to quarantine the county, but if smallpox is not soon stamped out there, it may be necessary to take action of this sort."

The situation is not so bad as represented. The disease, whatever it is, was brought into Christian county from other counties. For instance one young lady who had a mild case contracted it while on a visit to Frankfort, probably from contact with it in traveling. No other cases resulted from this one. Most of the trouble has been in the country, many cases never being reported or coming under the care of a physician.

So far as we can learn, the disease is gradually disappearing and it will hardly be necessary for the State Board to quarantine Christian county.
